

Water, Water Everywhere Study Questions

1. Why is it difficult to decentralize a service delivery function like water from the national to subnational level?
2. Do you think some of the challenges faced in the Kenya case are more generally applicable across countries in the context of decentralization?
3. What do you think are the most important considerations in setting up or reforming bodies, such as water companies, to deliver water effectively?
4. What options do local governments have to finance water service delivery under a decentralized system?
5. If you were running a local government, how would you engage the public in water service delivery?